Senior Product Designer - Delivery Hero AG

On January 2017 I became the first dedicated product designer for Lieferheld. I later became a part of the Delivery Hero Germany migration team and also in charge of setting up the design system. When the design team grew, I helped to establish workflows and processes that made production more efficient.

As a freelance designer, I was focused on digital products and services. I was also a dedicated designer for the Swiss company Origammi, working on an e-commerce CRM.
